

The Atlanta Chapter held a Culinary Yard Sale to Benefit the Farmers Flood Relief Fund

ATLANTA -- Barb Pires, President The Atlanta Chapter held a culinary yard sale at the Peachtree Farmers Market on Saturday, Oct. 17, to benefit the Farmers Flood Relief Fund that will assist the many local farmers that have suffered devastating losses from the recent rains in Georgia. The total estimated loss of income and farm damage price tag on the farms is over $50,000. $2280 will go to the farms that were affected from LDEI Atlanta. Thanks to all the Dames that donated cookbooks, kitchenware, linens and time for this worthy cause. Will Harris of White Oak Pastures, hosted a group of Dames on Sunday, Oct. 25, for a tour of his family's cattle farm and lunch on the "patio". We were treated to steaks cooked on the grill by Will and listened to his great stories of how he has taken White Oak Pastures to the success it is. White Oak Pastures works in cooperation with nature to produce premium quality beef that is healthy, nutritious, and good to eat. Care is given to ensure that all of the production practices are economically practical, ecologically sustainable, and that the animals are always humanely treated. Because of the timing of our trip, we saw many of the new calves that were born within the past 10 days.
